

समय

A PHOTO JOURNEY BY RITU JHINGON

www.ritujhingonphotography.com

The act of photography is essentially a cry against our own mortality – with every image we capture, we hope to freeze time and stop its march. Every image is a memory that has been forever frozen in time. But for me, photography has also been a journey that has helped me reach into the quiet places of my own soul. It has taught me that the best pictures aren't those of the prettiest or the most remarkable things I have seen – but ones that help me tell my story. Of finding beauty in breathtaking detail, of finding pleasure in solitude, of a visceral connection to this land and its people.

Each of these photographs have made me look at the world anew and replenished me spiritually and creatively. And the act of photography has given me untold joy and transformed mundane things into magic. I hope it works some of that incredible alchemy on you.

BELLS TEMPLES
PEOPLE TRAVEL

BELLS

In tiny little roadside temples, in places thronged by worshippers, in sunshine, in rain, the mellifluous peal of bells never fail to intrigue, calling out one's name and suffusing positive energy.

Kailasa

Shivaay

Abhilasha

Mangala

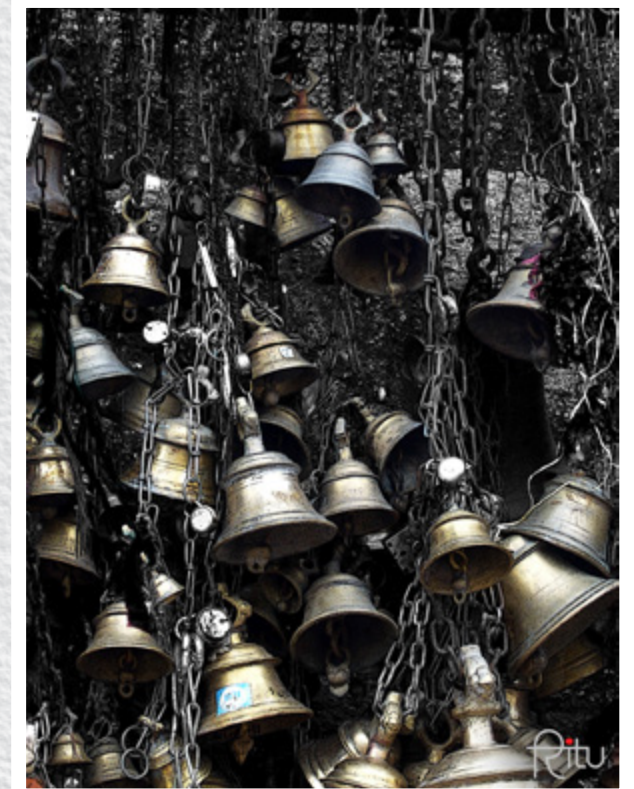

Mahant

Manokamna

Kuber

Kamakhya

Swasti

Swastik

Sinduri

Jagruti

Naad Dwaar

Trisutra

Rangmanch

Santoshi

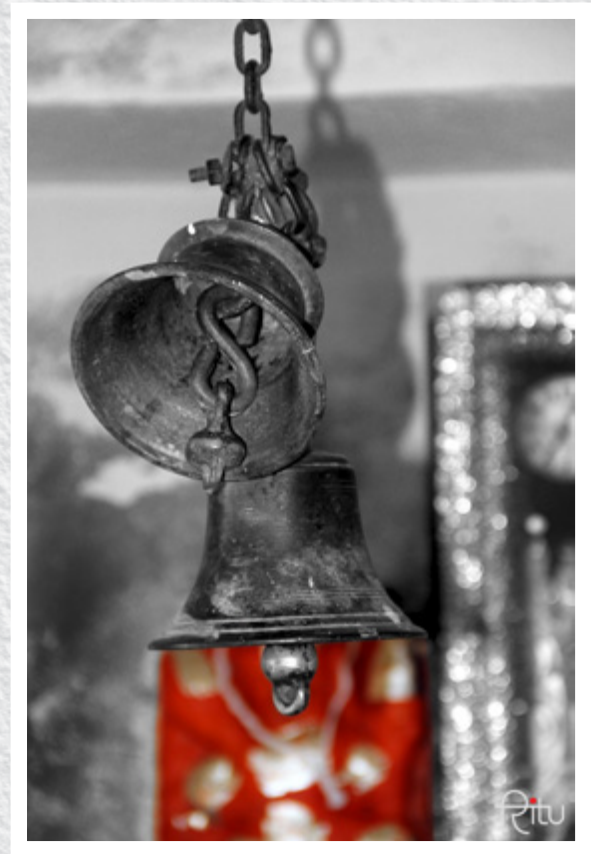

Rankeshwar

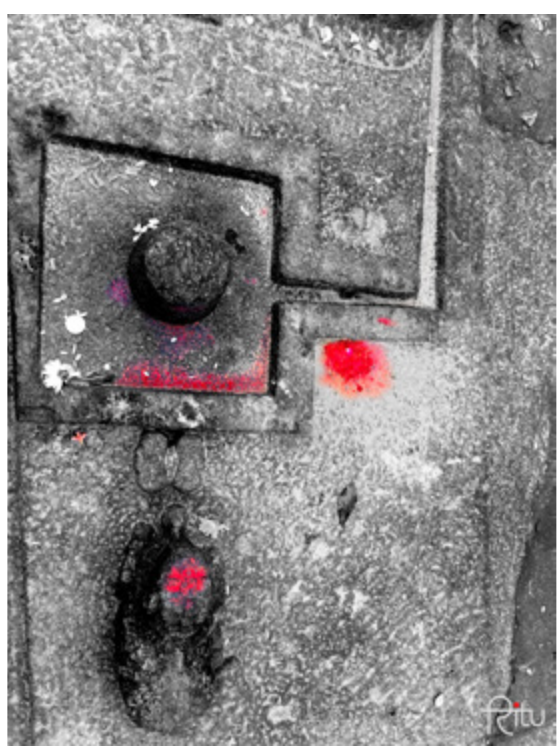

Guptkashi

Swastik

Mansaa

Shivoham

Anjaninandan

TEMPLES

Seen with the naked eyes they are places of worship. But through the lens of a camera they transform into spots for personal reflection.

Tripur Sundari

Granthi

Hori

Harisiddhi

Akhand

Agneya Kona

PEOPLE

Despair, hope, sorrow, joy...every face narrates a story of its own in breathtaking detail and simplicity.

Supatra

Anjuli

Kasturi

Shraavan Jal

Rudra Ling

Anugaami

Sammohan

Sanand

Gajdhaar

Dhumil

Sthir Chitta

TRAVEL

Pictures those that tell a story without saying a single word, of finding beauty in the visceral connection with one's land and its people.

Kalpa Vriksha

Raksha Sutra

Gachhami

Charan Pushp

Gulaab Giri

Bind Pratibimb

Kaal Chakra

Sharde

Jhilmil

Daamar

ritu